QUALITY OF EXHIBITS AT GANGES BETTER THAN IN FORMER YEARS

DOMINION EXPERIMENTAL STATION EXHIBIT WAS ONE OF THE MAIN ATTRACTIONS AND CAUSED MANY FAVORABLE COMMENTS—THE FRUIT SHOWN WAS EXCELLENT IN QUALITY ALTHOUGH EXHIBITS IN ALL CLASSES WERE NOT AS NUMEROUS AS FORMERLY.

Much credit is due the directors of the Islands Agricultural and Fruit Growers Association, and especially Mr. J. T. Collins, the genial and hard working secretary, for the splendid manner in which they handled the annual fall exhibition held on Wednesday, September 22nd, at Ganges Harbor. That the efforts to carry out the details of the work they had undertaken was appreciated by the residents was made manifest by the complimentary remarks passed by the visitors, as they wended their way from one table to another in the large hall in order to view the many attractive exhibits.

Although the exhibits this year were not as numerous as on former occasions yet everybody was convinced that they were much superior in quality, and the very attractive manner in which they were displayed added not a little to the general effect of the whole show.

The Dominion Experimental Station made a most creditable exhibit at the fair. Superintendent L. Stevenson proceeded to Salt Spring on Monday morning with nine large packing cases filled with most interesting and instructive farm, ranch and garden equipment, which he displayed very attractively. This exhibit occupied the east end of the Mahon Memorial Hall. An attractive background showing a map of Canada with the location of all experimental stations in the Dominion system formed the central setting. This was banked with choice grains, in sheaf and glass, in such a way as to impress the wonderful possibilities of pure and vigorous farm and garden seeds in this island district. The seeds were so good that many remarked that they must have been grown in Ontario, but Supt. Stevenson was on hand to dispell any such notion and impress on the doubting ones the great possibilities of seed and crop improvement in the islands district.

A complete line of miniature poultry equipment was shown consisting of housing, feeding, fattening and for the handling of poultry in general. This part of the exhibit attracted much attention from the poultry-keepers.

A glass case containing several thousand live bees of the golden Italian strain attracted much notice from all, as it is not often that one can watch bees at work with perfect safety. A complete bee equipment of the latest model was shown and demonstrated to all interested. Among other miniature equipment shown and which attracted much attention, was a small model silo tank, frame barn, model hog house and cow stalls.

Twenty specially written exhibition bulletins were placed for distribution and many people availed themselves of this opportunity of securing the latest agricultural knowledge and Superintendent Stevenson and Mr. Jeffrey were kept busy offering assistance to all in quest of information. The exhibit was a credit to the Experimental Station and a great aid and attraction to the Island Fruit Growers and Agricultural Association.

The live stock sections were all fairly well filled with the exception of sheep, of which there was only one pen shown. There were some magnificent animals in the horse section and the pure bred and grade cows were a credit to any community and showed clearly that the farmers of the islands are taking a keen interest in the building up of their various herds.

The fruits exhibited were exceptionally good, and the field roots were a surprise to the visitors when it was taken into consideration that this has been a very dry season in this particular part of the province. The enormous mangolds, carrots, squash, pumpkins and other vegetables shows very clearly that there are some farmers who thoroughly understand the art of dry farming. There was also a splendid showing made of Kohl Rabi and corn.

In the flower section the exhibits were all exceptionally good and the decorated tables were one of the features of the show, giving the judges the time of their lives in deciding where to place the blue and red tickets.

Space will not permit us to give any further details of the various exhibits which were all worthy of special mention, but it must be said that perhaps the hard times caused by the European war is in a measure responsible for the large and splendid exhibit made of bread, and leaves no doubt but that the ladies have given over the habit of buying their bread and taken to making it themselves. There were over one hundred entries made in this line and that the ladies are fast becoming experts was evidenced by the perplexed brow of the judge when he came to make his decision.

An exhibit that was not mentioned in the prize list, and one that was commented very favorably on by the visitors, was the collection of wild weeds made by the children of the Borgoyne school on the south end of the island, and Vesuvius Bay school on the north end. The teachers of these schools certainly deserve great praise for the manner in which they displayed the work of their pupils in this as well as in the other entries made. In the weed exhibit Borgoyne school carried off first honors, but Vesuvius Bay was not very far behind.

Following is the list of prizes as awarded by the judges.

ENTER PROTEST AGAINST CHANGE

PROPOSED TRANSFER OF SIDNEY HOTEL LICENCE CAME UP FOR DISCUSSION.

The regular fortnightly meeting of the Board of Trade took place on Tuesday evening with a fairly good turnout of members present. Secretary G. Frith-Smith being present, Mr. J. H. Dawes was asked to fill his position for the evening.

In response to the night telegram sent some two weeks ago to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries at Ottawa by the Council of the Board in regard to the unsafe condition of the wharf at the foot of Beacon avenue, the following letter has been received and was read by the secretary:

Department of Marine and Fisheries, Deputy Minister's Office, Ottawa, Canada, August 25, 1915.

Dear Sir,—In the absence of the Minister, I beg to refer to your night lettergram of the 15th inst., and the Minister's reply of the 17th, in the matter of repairs required for Sidney wharf.

In connection with this matter I beg to advise you that a report has been received from the Agent of this department at Victoria indicating that considerable repairs are required and the matter has been referred to the Department of Public Works and is now receiving the attention of that department.

A good deal of discussion took place over the advertisement appearing in the columns of the Review to the effect that Mr. James Callandar, of Victoria, is making application for a transfer of the license held by Mr. P. N. Tester, of the Sidney Hotel. This proposed transfer does not meet with the approval of the Board, as the members consider that Mr. Tester has always run a first class hotel and there has never been any complaint about the manner in which he has run his bar, and also in view of the fact that prohibition will no doubt come into force by Jan 1st, 1917, the Board decided to enter a strong protest against the transfer of the licence to Mr. Callandar. The secretary was accordingly instructed to send a copy of the resolution to the Chief of the Provincial Police at Victoria.

The advisability of again applying to the provincial authorities for power to tax the many useless dogs running around the district was discussed also, but as the hour was getting late it was decided to lay this matter over till the next meeting.

WEDDED YESTERDAY

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, September 22, at 1.30 p.m. in St. Mary's church, Victoria, when Mr. Archibald John, of North Saanich, led to the altar Miss Winnie Wright, of Victoria. The bride was attired in a handsome costume of white satin and lace with veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white carnations and roses. Miss Ethel and Miss Violet Wright, sisters of the bride, acted as bridesmaids, and wore becoming costumes of cream satin with blue nylon tunic and mop caps. Each carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Pte. Wm. Munro, of the B. C. Horse, supported the groom.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, after which the happy couple went aboard the 4.30 boat for a honeymoon trip to Seattle, Portland and other coast cities. They will reside on Amphion street, Victoria, on their return.

Both young people are well known in Sidney and their many friends here extend congratulations.

SONS OF THE EMPIRE.

The following poem composed on the occasion of the visit of the 2nd Canadian Regiment to Liverpool on December 10th, 1900, has been handed in by one of our readers and we take pleasure in reproducing it as it is a poem of much merit.

Boys from the bounds of the Empire, Sons of our Wales over sea,
Here is our love to your country,
Here is our God-speed to ye!
Dear to the heart of your Mother, Blest of your brothers in need—Ye are the pride of the Nation, Ye are the flower of her seed!

Sons of our Empire marching out to war,
With our brave Colonials from the distant shore, We're going to fight and conquer, as we've done before,
For the love of our Country and Queen.

Hark to the love of our London, Voiced in the cheers of the street!
Pride's in the eyes that are watching Joy's in the quickened heart beat.
All for the boys who are marching Gaily for Empire and Queen, Ready to die for our honour, Sturdy and fearless of me!

So on your valorous mission Go and good fortune be yours!
Cherish the love that you foster,
It is a love that endures.
Go and all glory attend you, Strike for the rights of the free—
Here is our love to your country,
Here is our God-speed to ye.

Extra Verse.

There are some we'll be leaving behind us,
Who will sleep on that far distant track, And eyes will be dim here with weeping—For the men who can never come back, When the Roll-call of Life will be sounding,
And the tramp of these men will be heard, Well done, good and faithful soldier, Will be our Great Colonel's word.

INVENTOR OF THE "ANGELS"

Mr. Arthur Macheon, whose story about the angels at Mons has just appeared in book form, must be one of the most perplexed men in the country. Having invented a legend, he has found it crystalize into a widely accepted fact. Only a few days ago Mr. Macheon told me that he had been talking to a man who claimed to have first-hand evidence of the Mons angels. "I assured him," he said, "that the whole story was merely an invention of my own. He was very polite, but it was quite evident that he did not believe me."

ON THE FIELD OF HONOR.

The publishers of the Family Herald and Weekly Star, Montreal, are making a strong bid for that beautiful picture, full of pathos, entitled "On the Field of Honor." It is assumed the publishers of the Family Herald have in mind using it as a presentation plate. If that is so there is a great treat in store for readers of the Family Herald and Weekly Star this autumn. In past years the Family Herald of Montreal has been noted not only for the wonderful excellence of that journal but for many beautiful pictures it has presented to its readers. The Family Herald has a name for succeeding in anything it undertakes, and we feel sure that if it is humanly possible to secure "On the Field of Honor" that the publishers will succeed in getting it. "On the Field of Honor" is attracting widespread attention in Europe.

A SAD CASE.

The worried countenance of the bridegroom disturbed the best man. Tiptoeing up the aisle, he whispered: "What's the matter, Jim? Have you lost the ring?" "No," blurted out the unhappy Jim. "The ring's safe enough, but I have lost my enthusiasm."

Big Plant Starts Operations

The big plant of the Sidney Rubber Roofing Company resumed operations again on Monday morning, with about a dozen men employed, practically all of which are married men and residents of this district.

Several very large orders for the different grades of roofing material have been received lately and it is the intention of the company, Superintendent Nicol states, to keep the plant going for the next two or three months at least, and if trade conditions warrant it will be kept going full blast indefinitely.

The "B. C. Standard Roofing" produced is of a very high quality and is finding a ready sale not only in this province, but to the east and south as well as far inland as Winnipeg.

Several other grades of one, two and three ply roofing are also being manufactured as well as several lines of high grade building paper, which is of a very tough texture and practically odorless.

Record Made Loading Lumber

A record for the quick loading of ocean going vessels on this coast was established at Genoa Bay during the early part of the present month, when one and one-half million feet of timber was put aboard the big freighter "Ocean Queen," in the remarkably short time of twenty-two hours.

The vessel tied up at the wharf of the Genoa Bay Lumber Company at 12 o'clock noon on Friday, September 10th, and was ready to leave the dock with her cargo ready for sea on Sunday, September 12th, and 9 a. m. making just twenty-two working hours for the men on the job. There were forty-five longshoremen employed in the loading and they certainly hustled the big sticks of timber that made up the cargo, which was consigned to the Admiralty in England, and was part of the large order recently placed by them with lumber firms in British Columbia.

The Genoa Bay Lumber Company are no doubt proud of the fact that this record was established at their mills at Genoa Bay, and will watch with keen interest the efforts that will likely be made to beat it by other lumber dealers elsewhere.

This firm of lumber dealers has a branch established at Patricia Bay, with Mr. C. A. Frost in charge, and they always carry in stock everything needed in the building trade from the ordinary plastering lath to the finest grade of finishing lumber. Recently they have been making a specialty of lumber for the building of silos, which are now much in demand by the farmers of this district.

Annual Hints to Householders

"How the dangers of fire may be minimized," is the theme of a special Bulletin just issued by the Commission of Conservation, and below are published a few of the extracts:

The season is fast approaching when cool evenings will demand the starting of fires in our homes. September and October have become known to firemen as the months when chimneys and flues cause the most trouble.

The following suggestions of a practical nature, if faithfully followed, will do much to prevent damage to property and loss of life.

In setting up your stove, place a metal stove board on the wood floor under the stove, and extending at least twelve inches in front of the ashpit door. Protect all walls and partitions within two feet of any stove with a metal shield, leaving an air space between the shield and the wall. Leave no kindling or other wood in the oven over night. Do not hang clothes too near the stove or stovepipes.

See that the lengths of stovepipes are well fitted together, free from rust holes and parted seams, wired firmly and fitted perfectly into the chimney. Stovepipes passing through partitions, walls, floors, attics and roofs are dangerous at best. Where these must pass through partitions, walls or floors always use a large, ventilated double thimble. You should examine the stovepipes in the attic. They may come apart or rust. Fluff and spider webs are likely to gather on and around them, to be set on fire when you least expect it.

Chimneys should be built from the ground up, and never rest on wooden supports. The settling of the wood-work will cause cracks in the chimney. Nor should the chimney walls be used to support joists or other woodwork. Soft brick and poor mortar are often responsible for defects in the chimney. Use a good quality of brick and cement mortar. Chimney walls should be at least eight inches thick, the flue of ample size and lined with fire clay or terra cotta. Never stuff up the flue holes with rags or paper, nor cover them with anything but a metal stock. Chimneys should be cleaned frequently.

Protect all wood work above and around the furnace boilers, if within three feet, with a metal shield, also all wood work near furnace pipes. It is best to rivet the lengths of pipe together to prevent disjoining. The pipe should fit perfectly into the chimney. Examine the pipe frequently for rust holes or other defects. Keep them free from dust, fluff and spider webs, which are easily ignited. Defective stoves, boilers, furnaces, pipes and chimneys should be promptly repaired or replaced.

Beware of overheating stoves, boilers, furnaces or pipes.

Clever Ruse of a Russian Spy

M. Louis Zilaphy, a Hungarian author serving with the Honveds on the eastern front, relates in a Pesth, Hungarian, newspaper, the following amusing experience with a Russian spy:

We knew that next day we were to have a hard day's work, for some four kilometers in front of us the battle was raging already. The battalion marched slowly towards its quarters, a deserted Polish farmhouse on the Bug. At last we arrived, and throwing our knapsacks off waited for the field train to come up. I rested beside a straw stack with the sergeant.

Suddenly he said "I beg your pardon, sir; I think this stack is moving."
"The duce it is!" "Yes, it is moving," he insisted, "a man is in it."

As we got up to investigate out-crept a shabby looking Russian soldier. He smiled at our surprise, and then saluted. He was a young fellow of five and twenty, with a very intelligent face, eyes full of vigor and joy; in fact the most sympathetic Russian I ever came across. He said something in Polish, but we could make nothing of it. The sergeant slapped him on the shoulder. "Well, comrade, what's up. How did you get here?" No answer, for the man did not understand. Another smile, and then he said something again, and in German he murmured "Mine, mine." He is talking about some mines," I said. We got a Polish speaking man from somewhere, to whom he related with much earnestness that there were mines laid on certain spots, and that he remained behind to tell us, for he was a Poll and he wanted to fight in our army.
He said the mines contained immense quantities of ecrasite.

The Major's Order.

"Take him to the major!" I ordered, and soon we stood before the

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGU-LATIONS.

Coal mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. No more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.
In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of mer-chantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 per acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

commander. He listened carefully, and then curtly saying: "Take him away and shoot him!" turned his back on us and walked off. We stood there quite at a loss; the Russian saw the changed look in our faces and knew there was trouble brewing. He turned pale, and as he saw some sympathy in my face looked at me im-plorely. It struck me as inhuman that this good looking, fine boy should be shot without first being given a chance to substantiate his information. I walked after the major, and said: "Let us give him a chance, major. Probably after all he said the truth." "Do what you like," the major said, and I rushed back with smiling face. The Russian noticed the change on my look and regained his happy smile and color.

I went with the prisoner and two men towards the spots where he said mines had been laid. We tried to explode them, but with no result. Another spot he also pointed to was also drawn blank, for as a matter of fact, there were no mines there.
Somehow, the Russian made me understand that those places had been ordered to be mined and that he had heard the order given, but it seems the order was not carried out. He said this with the greatest conviction and with such an innocent and honest face that I believed him. I pitied him very much, and knew that if I reported the result to the major the Russian was doomed. So I told the men to keep an eye on him, and said nothing to the major. "By tomorrow," I said to myself, "he will forget the whole thing. Besides he told us to do as we liked."

I gave the Russian supper from my own dish, and the men, who also took a liking to him, gave him cigarettes, tapped him on the shoulder, and conversed—by signs—with him. He listened to their singing with smiling face and happy eyes. "Fine sort of chap," they said; "he would have made even a good Honved." That is the highest praise a soldier can ask for. It is more than an iron cross.
During the evening the Russian lay on his back listening to our songs and smoking our cigarettes. Then we all spread our rugs and lay down, the Russian also. In the morning instead of the Russian I found a card—fine paper and print—on my cover, and the word "Danke" (thank you.) The man was a Russian captain, a spy, who knew German, and the most adapted man for the duty that could have been chosen. I was very much ashamed of myself and swore bitterly.
But I learnt a good lesson. One must leave his heart at home when one goes to war, and, above all, orders should not be considered and criticised in the light of sentiment, but should be carried out.

Fish and the Cost of Living

"Eat fish" should prove a valuable slogan for combating the high cost of living. Meat has risen in price steadily within recent years, and, strangely enough, the available supply is becoming less competent to meet the demand. It is not surprising, therefore, that fish should be looked to as a substitute. As a food it is excellent, comparing not unfavorably with meat, although the proportions of nutritive elements such as protein, albumen and fat differ considerably.

Heretofore fish has not been a popular article of diet in Canada. The reasons for this are various and some of them must be removed before fish eating can become a national habit.
In the first place, fresh sea fish in prime condition has been almost unobtainable even at points not far removed from the coasts. This has been due frequently to inefficient handling of the fish by the fishermen and by the distributing agencies. It has also been due to unsatisfactory transportation and retail market conditions. These difficulties are not unsurmountable, and some of them are already being overcome. Education of fishermen and others who handle fish is a necessity that cannot much longer be overlooked. Traditional methods of handling must give way to more scientific and efficient practices. Such changes would mean increased profits for the fishermen, and at the same time, by making available large quantities of food which have hitherto been wasted, would improve the quality and lower the price to the consumer. Transportation is being already improved and, in time, when the inland demands for fish warrant it, fast train services should, and probably will, be established from the fishing ports to the larger inland centres.

The present offers splendid opportunities to the fishing industry. A demand for fish is already half created by the high price and comparative scarcity of meat. But if Canadians are to be taught to eat fish, there must be more enlightened methods of producing and handling it.

Danger From Flame Projectors

Describing his experience of flame fighting in Flanders, a corporal of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders says:

"We go under fire now in the actual sense of the word and I can't say that it is an enjoyable experience. I have seen prairie fires out in the States, but that is no worse than a schoolboy's bonfire compared with what they are doing out in Belgium.
If you get near enough you can easily imagine yourself frying, the heat is so hot, and then when the liquid gets you on a tender spot, the pain is unbearable. If you have ever tried burning a wart off with acid, just multiply the pain by a few millions and you will have a near enough idea of what it feels like to have one of these 'kulture' brand of blowpipes turned on you.

"There is one danger in this form of attack that only soldiers can appreciate. That is the danger of your ammunition exploding as soon as the heat begins to take effect. In my opinion that is the worst danger of all, because it means that once you are subjected to an attack of this kind, you may be forced to choose between sacrificing all your ammunition or being blown sky high by the explosion.

When you remember that a man is often a walking powder magazine, you will realize how risky it is to be hanging about where these projectors are.

"I saw a fine thing done by two drivers of the transport service who were in charge of their cart, loaded to the brim, when one of these attacks developed. As soon as it began to get really sultry, these chaps realized the danger to all around them, and without any thought for themselves, they dashed off to a safer place, and began carrying away the cases.

"They had got the greater part away when there was a terrific explosion, but luckily no one was any the worse; but if that had taken place where I saw the cart first, the loss of life would have been terrible, besides helping the Germans in their attack. As it is, there was a young earthquake, of which the effects were felt for miles around.

"We all felt thankful to those chaps for their readiness to sacrifice themselves, and we hope they will get official recognition. I know they were complimented by their officers for what they had done.

Vacant Lot Gardens a Success

Reports from various cities and towns in Canada as to the cultivation of vacant lots indicate that the campaign inaugurated last spring for greater production and more extensive use of vacant land has been a success. Several cities have handled the vacant lot problem in a systematic manner, and have secured results commensurate to the amount of energy expended. Some, by allowing interest to lag, have been only partially successful. In others, also, circumstances militated against success, in that unemployed men took up the cultivation of vacant lots, and, upon securing employment, neglected them. On the whole, however, the movement can be regarded as a distinct success. No estimate of the value of the product is available, but judging from the enthusiasm of some of the vacant lot gardeners, the total value is large.

There is one danger from the vacant lot garden, however, to which attention must be drawn, namely the growth of noxious weeds in the newly cultivated land. Too often on the removal of the crop, the ground is given over to the weeds. Organizations handling the vacant lot work should give the matter of weed destruction early attention; otherwise, the lots will not only prove a menace to the land in the vicinity by the spread of weed seeds, but create an-tagonism to the movement on the part of the occupiers of the neighboring land.

Mr. Fred Wright, another of our local boys, has enlisted in the Pioneer Regiment and left Sidney on Monday to go away with that corps. They expect to leave in a few days en route for Calgary and from there they will shortly be moved on to Eastern Canada and then to England. The Review wishes all kinds of good luck to Fred.

Mr. T. Tonyama will address the Epworth League in Wesley Church on Wednesday evening. The address given by him last spring was much enjoyed and this one will be looked forward to with great interest.

Next Sunday will be rally Sunday at Wesley Church. The regular Sunday School before the morning service is withdrawn and the children are to come for the 11 o'clock service. Rev. L. S. Albright, B.A., of Hampshire Road Methodist Church, Victoria, will give the address at this service. Music by the junior choir and suitable floral decorations will be special features. It is hoped this will be a rally for all members of the congregation.

Mr. Percy Bateman, of Deep Cove, came up before Justice of the Peace A. McDonald on Monday last on the charge of shooting game out of season, laid against him by Deputy Game Warden A. J. Eaton. He pleaded guilty to the charge, but put forward the plea that he had shot the bird to obtain meat as he had no money with which to buy it. Other circumstances tended to show that the young man was really hard up and the magistrate was lenient with him, dismissing him with a warning.

The Epworth League and some of their friends enjoyed a most delightful outing on Wednesday evening when they accepted of the hospitality of the McDonald family. The moon and the weather were very favorable and made the "hay rack" ride a very pleasant part of the evening's programme. The party on arriving at the spot where the "corn feed" took place, were received in unique fashion by the hostesses of the evening attired in pretty Gipsy costumes. When settled round the camp fire the company indulged in singing and reciting while the corn boiled. Then when all had compassed their capacity in consuming the corn and had partaken of cake and coffee, the president of the League observed that evening was rapidly passing away and rose to thank the Misses McDonald and Messrs. Alex. and Sandy McDonald for the good time provided and the success of the evening. The merry party then returned to their homes very pleased that they had been able to attend.

REV. J. S. HENDERSON OPENS CAMPAIGN HERE

The prohibition campaign was opened in this district on Monday evening by a public meeting held in Wesley Methodist Church under the auspices of the Social and Moral Reform Association, Rev. J. S. Henderson, of Vancouver, being the speaker of the evening.

Mr. A. McDonald, who was appointed by the Business Men's Convention which met at Vancouver recently, as organizer for this district, which comprises the same territory as the Islands Electoral District, opened the meeting with a few remarks. He laid stress on the fact that the present prohibition campaign was not organized or being carried on under the auspices of the temperance societies, the Social and Moral Reform Association, or any of the other temperance organizations of the province, but was being put forward and backed by the business men of the Province of British Columbia, as they had come to the conclusion that the great economic waste caused by the liquor traffic must be stopped if this great province of ours was to hold its own and be on an equal footing with the rest of the Dominion.

Mr. McDonald then introduced, Rev. Mr. Henderson, who delivered a very enlightening address on the different phases of the question under consideration. Mr. Henderson is a very able speaker and the large audience that filled the church building would have been quite willing to have listened to him for another hour. Although the general tenor of his remarks were serious enough to cause people to do considerable thinking, yet he managed at intervals to bring in some very amusing stories that kept his audience in the best of good humor.

At the conclusion of the address Mr. McDonald again took charge of the meeting and stated that it would
